Memories and ideas to share

Three places, one life

5 JUNE 1948 · LORETO APRUTINO

I was born in Abruzzo, Italy. This is where my roots lie and where my family’s story between Italy and Belgium begins.

22 OCTOBER 1948 · LINDEMAN, HEUSDEN-ZOLDER

I came to Belgium as a baby with my mother Guglielmina. I grew up in Lindeman with my father Antonio, who worked in the mine.

1960 · LIÈGE

At twelve, I moved with my family to the Liège area. I learnt French, found my place again and took my first steps towards adulthood.

Our family’s story is part of the migration of Italian miners to Belgium. Despite hard, dangerous work and missing home, they built a new life together with their families.

A family between two countries

MY FATHER, A MINER

My father Antonio left for Belgium in 1947 to work in the mine. A year later, my mother Guglielmina left Loreto Aprutino to join him. I was a few months old.

LINDEMAN, OUR FIRST HOME

The Lindeman mining community in Heusden-Zolder became our first home in Belgium. Ours is also the story of mothers who left with their children and families starting again in a new country.

MEMORIES TO PASS ON

In my book My Life, I describe what that journey from Abruzzo to Belgium meant to us. I want to preserve the memory of my parents, the miners and the families who share this history.

Behind the hard and dangerous work underground were families building a future together. Their stories deserve to be passed on.

My inventions

The Vitruvian Man

Leonardo was also an inventor. I made this panel myself: the Vitruvian Man is printed directly onto glass mosaic. It is at my osteopath Roger Fiametti’s practice in Liège.

MODULAR FLOOR AND WALL PANELS

I developed prefabricated panels for dry installation. Floor panels can be lifted, replaced and used again.

MATERIALS AND TECHNOLOGY

I experimented with ceramics, marble and glass mosaic, with cables under the floor and a thin heating film.

WORKING WITH MARCO

Marco developed Modula Vision to show panels in 2D and 3D and calculate the components needed. That collaboration remains dear to me.

AI helped me share my story

MY MEMORIES, MY CHOICES

My life, memories and ideas are the foundation. With artificial intelligence (AI), I was able to create my books and websites and share my story in four languages. AI helps me write, organise, translate and design. I read, revise and decide for myself.

YOUR STORY DESERVES A FORM TOO

I hope my experience encourages others. A memory, a family history or an idea: you can learn to share it. Curiosity and a willingness to try are a good place to start.

START WITH ONE MEMORY

Tell or dictate what you want to preserve. Ask AI to help step by step. Read the answers, check important information and adapt the text until it sounds like you. A first conversation can grow into something to share.

Choose your own path

All three books are free to read and listen to online. Scan a QR code with your phone or tap a link in this PDF.

Renato Rossi

I see myself as a bridge builder: between my Italian roots and my life in Belgium, between memories and new possibilities, between people and generations.

Through my books, I want to share what life has taught me, in the hope that others will also find the courage to pass on their own stories.

MY MEMORIES

My story begins in Loreto Aprutino and continues through Lindeman to the Liège area. My family, my work and the people I love are the thread running through it.

PRESERVE AND PASS ON

The memory of my parents, the miners and my son Marco lives on in what I share. My inventions and spiritual search are also part of that story.

WITH THE HELP OF AI

AI helped me turn my memories and ideas into books and websites. I share them freely, hoping to bring recognition, inspiration and connection.

Perhaps my story will help you share your own.
